1 PURPOSE

Pastoral Care is defined as the nurturing and guidance of students to help them realise their full potential academically, socially and emotionally. Great Southern Grammar places great emphasis on pastoral care and through the Yalari and GAP program, community service, cultural tours, exchange programs and curriculum we place a strong emphasis on celebrating diversity.

The actions and attitudes of staff and students at GSG reflect our commitment to the values of integrity, respect, tolerance and compassion. We aim to nurture each student's unique potential. Students are encouraged to develop initiative, responsibility, ethical discernment, openness to learning and an appreciation of diversity. The relevant knowledge, skills and values are developed within a Christian context.

Practices to promote our values and maintain mental and emotional well-being are central to GSG's Pastoral Care systems.

We aim to teach, protect and support members of the GSG community by:

- Providing a learning environment where individual differences are appreciated and accepted
- Modelling behaviour that shows tolerance and acceptance at all times by all members of the community

6.5 Structures and Practices

All staff members are pastoral carers at Great Southern Grammar. There is a whole school approach to pastoral care that encompasses a range of structures and processes.

6.5.1 House

The School's House system provides the structure for the delivery of pastoral care at GSG. Each student is placed in one of the four Houses, providing a structured avenue for students to develop their potential, to show respect and concern for others and to enact interpersonal cooperation and social responsibility.

Each House has a Head of House with overall pastoral responsibility for Senior School students in his or her House, as well as responsibility for the culture and activities of the House in a whole school context. House groups meet often, with regular scheduled meetings for Junior School House groups and Middle and Senior School House groups, as well as whole of House events, competitions and fund raising activities.

Sporting and cultural competitions, along with a reward system in the Junior School, give students the opportunity to score points for their House.

GSG awards Wave and Lighthouse badges for participation in and service to the School community. These are awarded by Houses and have minimum requirements for eligibility. Please see the Wave and Lighthouse Awards policy for selection criteria.

6.5.2 The Homeroom

Each student is placed in a homeroom. The homeroom teacher monitors daily attendance, uniforms, notices and student organisation. We check students' diaries and develop organisational and planning structures.

6.5.3 Junior School

In the Junior School, the student's class teacher is primarily responsible for pastoral care and various practices and methods are adopted by the staff to monitor and foster each child's development. Parents should contact their child's class teacher directly with any concerns or queries. The Head of Junior School is available to give further support and advice when required.

6.5.4 Middle School

Pastoral Care in the Middle School is delivered along horizontal lines with the Head of Year responsible for the pastoral care of students in that specific year group, extending across all Houses. Homeroom groups in Years Seven to Nine are arranged along class rather than House lines. For day to day and administrative issues such as planned absences parents should contact their child's Homeroom teacher. Concerns regarding academic progress or social and behavioural issues should be discussed with their child's Head of Year. Supporting the Heads of Year is the Head of Middle School.

6.5.5 Senior School

In the Senior School, the homeroom group comprises student in a vertical structure with students from different years in the same House. Heads of House are responsible for pastoral care in the Senior School, establishing close relationships with the students over their three years in the Senior School. They develop considerable understanding and knowledge of the students in their House which makes the well-equipped to advise them on the academic, social and emotional issues. The Head of House becomes the hub, the focal point in the school life of the student. Parents of students in the Senior School should consult the relevant Head of House when they want advice, clarification or to discuss their child's progress.

6.5.6 Record Keeping

Appropriate paper and/or electronic records are kept of student achievements and issues using SEQTA and or REACH for the boarding students. In the Senior School, Heads of House are responsible for maintaining student files; in the Junior and Middle Schools this is the responsibility of the Homeroom teacher.

Records include:

- Student diary entry for recording student behaviour and/or work that is deserving of praise or requires attention
- Pastoral Care Action Plan for following through complex issues
- Academic or Pastoral Notice of Concern sent to parents regarding concerns and stored in SEQTA
